Rules Committee Minutes

Proposed Rule Change Modifications
64B5-17.002

64B5-17.002 Written Dental Records; Minimum Content, Retention

A licensed dentist shall maintain patient dental records in a legible manner and with sufficient detail to clearly demonstrate why the course of treatment was undertaken.

1. Dental Record: The dental record shall contain sufficient information to identify the patient, support the diagnosis, justify the treatment and document the course and results of treatment accurately, by including, at a minimum, patient histories; examination results; test results; records of drugs prescribed, dispensed, or administered; reports of consultation or referrals; and copies of records or reports or other documentation obtained from healthcare practitioners at the request of the dentist and relied upon by the dentist in determining the appropriate treatment of the patient.¹

2. Consent:
 - i. General consent of the patient, legal representative, or legal guardian permitting the dentist to provide dental care.
 - ii. Specific consent listing the expected outcomes, potential complications, risks, benefits and need for additional treatment for procedures with higher associated risk (i.e. Surgical, endodontic, orthodontic, periodontal procedures, etc.)
 - iii. Written and signed informed consent is not mandated by the Dental Practices Act. However, pursuant to s. 766.013(4)(a), F.S., written signed informed consent creates a rebuttable presumption of valid consent.

3. Record Alterations: Any additions, corrections, modifications, annotations, or alterations (hereinafter "change") to the original dental record entry must be clearly noted as such and must include the date when the change was made, must be initialed by the person making the change, and must have an explanation for the change. An original entry to the record cannot be partially or wholly removed. Rather, to represent the deletion of a record entry, the entry must be struck through where it will remain legible. A change made on the same date of the original entry must also include the time of change.

Subject: Recent conference call

Good afternoon Cindy,

The conference call last night was not my favorite way of communicating and with twenty people at the same time on one phone is just not very conducive to open communication. I know the proposed rule change is now forwarded to the rules committee and I hope you can get my letter to them forwarded for consideration!

Dear committee members,

I definitely support the attempt to get Rule 64B5-17.002 updated and my suggestion to you is meant to be an improvement and a precautionary to future amendments.

At last night's conference call the statement was made that this rule change has to be such that it can stand the test of time and also be encompassing all facets of dentistry today and in the future.

My effort to discuss this very fact with the current proposed change in 1) e. Treatment rendered, was not understood and quickly passed over.

The items: i through xii are too specific and only cause a possible reason for someone to not write specifics in the chart entry because it was not mentioned in those sub categories. This is exactly why the whole discussion on rewriting rule 64B5-17.002 was started!

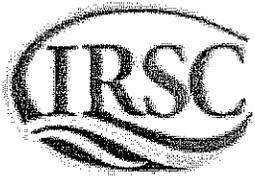

Dentistry, and the practice of it, is changing by the week and already many procedures are not mentioned; implant dentistry, orthodontics, Botox treatment, periodontics, TMJ treatment, sleep apnea treatment, and many more. Not to mention what will be added in the future.

It is my opinion that the treatment rendered should be complete and the rule should as such solicit that but be a guideline as to leave room for all types/kinds of treatment. This is easier said than done and my suggestion is to find out what our dental programs have in their curriculum. My other suggestion is to step back in time and collect the data from past board meetings and which chart entries – or rather missing ones- are the real problem. Did the lack of mentioning the use of Dycal at any time cause an issue, as an for instance?

I feel very strongly about the proposed list of treatment rendered sub categories being more of a hindrance in reaching the goal of proper chart entries than successful. The more detailed it gets the more loopholes are created!

My last remark is that all of our graduates in assisting and hygiene know how to do proper chart entries and perhaps other colleges as well can start a short continuing education course for OJT assistants in chart entry writing including for digital offices. The latter is the more challenging one! I completely understand the dilemma this Rule change is causing the Dental Practitioners. The only way that would work is for the BOD to make that somehow recommended or a discount on the insurance premium? I am not sure about the possibilities but do know that this would have to be made attractive in some manner in order to make the courses well attended.

Thank you for allowing me to better voice my concerns and solutions,

Alexander Vanovost DDS
